MMENSE CROWDS AT THE CONFERENCE

Record Breaking Attendance at the Tabernacle.

GROWTH OF MORMONISM

AFOSTLE TEASDALE DECLARES SAINTS ARE LOYAL.

The two meetings of the general conference at the tabernacle yesterday were characterized again by the attendance of immense crowds, and from this standpoint, at least, the conference threatens to carry off all the honors from its predecessors. As a rule the gallery is not filled at any morning session of conference. Much less was this to have been expected on Saturday morning. But when at 10 a.m. Presi-dent Smith called the assemblage to order, he looked out upon a sea of faces which in number has rarely been excelled in the historic structure. In order, he looked out upon a sea of faces which in number has rarely been excelled in the historic structure. In the afternoon people crowded the aisles, up-stairs and down. Every door and window in the place had to be thrown open, in spite of the cold, to afford ventilation. The speakers, most of whom were apostles, made afrequent reference to the size of the gathering. It astonished everybody. Today's meetings will be even more largely attended. The third session of the conference commenced with the singing of "Come, Come, Ye Saints." The opening prayer was by Elder Seymour B. Young. The choir sang "Praise Ye the Lord."

Apostle M. W. Merrill was the first speaker. He recalled the conferences of forty years ago and contrasted them with the present, this being the greatest, he said, that he had ever attended. The speaker noted the wonderful advancement in the church and said the Lord had greatly blessed this people. He urged the Latter-day Saints to be a humble people and to take advantage of the blessed privileges before them, one of which, he said, is temple work for the dead. The speaker said no body of worshipers in the world has such perfect organization as the Mormon church. He urged every officer to work among the people and get them to pay tithing. Particularly, he said, should the bislops and stake officers labor in this direction. In Cache stake, Apostla Merrill said, the people are dwelling together in peace and harmony.

imples of this hatred exhibited towards the Latter-day Saints. He proceeded in a doctrinal strain, with many ad-monitions to the Mormon people and outsiders.

"I often wonder what excuse will be given the Almighty," said he, "by those who have lived and are reared among this people and do not accept the glad nessage. Do not be moral cowards. is the worst kind of cowardice. Yet there are people here who believe this is the work of God and will not em-brace it because the -people are so dreadfully unpopular.

"Our beloved George Q. Cannon, who is lying sick, maybe unto death, is an example to all nations. He traveled through the world with the glad message, and no one who met him will sage, and he one who het him who ever say he was not a gentleman—a gentleman. The same is true of all our men—Joseph Smith, Brigham Young, Presidents Taylor, Woodruff,

Apostle John Henry Smith continued the services. He spoke of the good that can come of fidelity to the principles of the gospel. It may be a weakness that some in the church are not tithe-payers, he said, but the continued and persistent neglect of an oungation from year to year ceases to be a weakness and becomes in its way an abso-personal well-being.

"No man who continues to fail in the payment of tithes, or continues to disregard other laws of God, can be looked upon except as in open revolt," he deceive the highest exaltation without obeying the laws of God and of the land.

The closing hymn was "We Thank Thee, O God, for a Prophet," Benediction was pronounced by Elder George The conference adjourned until 10 a.

Ladies' Hats Removed.

The first speaker was Apostle George Teasdale, who referred amusingly to the removal of the ladies' hats, which had been requested by some in the congregation, who signed themselves the "suffering ladies."

Apostle Teasdale asked why it was that the world prefers falsehood to truth. He deplored such attempts to prejudice the public against the Mormon people as are found on the stage today. "The Danite" and "The Mormon Wife" were two plays he named as examples of this hatred exhibited towards the latter than the court room.

I. O. O. F. ANNIVERSARY.

Local Lodges Preparing for a Grand Celebration.

The eighty-second anniversary of Odd Fellowship, which will be celebrated on the 25th of the present month, will be an occasion of more than usual interest to this large fraternity. The jurisdiction of Utah is making extensive preparations by Rev. R. C. Bailey and the teporal was read and the teporal was read of presentation of sessional records, the call of Rev. Josiah McClain to the pastorate of the Third church of this city was read and approved. A committee composed of Dr. McNiece and Elder W. M. Scott was appointed to confer with Mr. McClain as to the time of his ordination as paston. After this Rev. H. H. McCreary, pastor at large, made an encouraging report on the work over the state. He said that a contract had been let for a chapel at St. George. He also reported progress among the Indians and read a letter from Miss Laura B. Work, teacher in the reservation near St. George, saying that the Indians wanted a minister to come and work among them. The report was adopted with favorable comment.

Dr. Wishard then gave notice that on next Monday he would offer an amendment to the rules of the Presented that the research reports.

on next Monday he would offer an amendment to the rules of the Presbytery, making the teachers' reports come from the principals of the schools instead of from the teachers. The reports from the field, given by the pastors and elders, were next called for and were very encouraging with one or two exceptions.

Rev. T. P. Howard of Benjamin reported discouragingly of the work there. He said the members did not seem' to take proper interest in their own church, but were too prone to follow the Mormon practices.

Dr. R. G. McNiece, who was to read a paper on Mormon teachings, said that conditions had changed since he was appointed to get up the paper and he had not thought it necessary to prepare one. The special committee appointed to consider the request of Rev. F. W. Blohm that he be allowed to work outside of the bounds of the presbytery reported favorably and he was granted the permissioners to the general assembly was then taken up and Rev. Charles Shepthe permission. The election of commissioners to the general assembly was then taken up and Rev. Charles Shepherd of Evanston, was appointed, with Rev. The Rev. T. N. Buchanan read a report in which he asked more support to the board of freedmen, which has in charge the work in the south. The report of the committee on Sabbath observance, which has already been recounted, was then taken up. Court Holds That Bank is Liable to Dorsey for Money on Deposit.

When Eva Christensen filed a suit in the district court on Friday against the bank of Walker Brothers for a judgment requiring the bank to pay over to her the sum of $440, represented by a certificate of deposit issued to her former husband, Charles E. Dorsey, it was believed by Soren X. Christensen, the plaintiff's attorney, that on the showing made the court would promptly issue an order in accordance with the prayer of the complaint and at the same time decreeing that the bank is relieved from any further liability to the original holder of the certificate of deposit or his assignee. But at the trial of the issues yesterday afternoon before Judge Morse the, defendant bank secured a non-suit without offering any testimony.

The vital point in the case was whether, under the law, which declares that an action for recovery of money deposited in a bank is never outlawed, the bank could be relieved of liability to Dorsey, to whom the certificate of deposit was issued on July 7, 1894, two months before he is alleged to have clandestinely sold, out his ranch in the walker side of syracuse and Clearfield and come in Syracuse, The present plan is to incorporate for $25,000, the stock to be subscribed by residents of the stock to be subscribed by residents of the two places. Several of the herders have arrived in town this week from the west deserts, where they have spent the winter with the sheep. They say that feed is excellent, but that snow is getting over eagain. The herds are thinking now of the homeward trip, and are scattered all the way from the Nevada state line to this valley, where two of them arrived during the week. Shearing has commenced here non on the desert, but will not be pushed until the weather moderates. The wool is said to be excellent on the sheep, as the winter has been an ideal one for wool growing. Growers here are not looking for any raise in the price before next January at the latest, and none of them have hopes of getting more than 10 cents per pound for it, if they get that.
